

Breakdown of Québecers according to their attitude toward the mandate

1-I've written and reviewed my mandate  This person gets top honours. He's taken all necessary steps to make sure his wishes are respected in the event he is declared incapable. He has advised his mandatary of the existence of the mandate, provided for replacements, and appointed an overseer. He wants his loved ones to have peace of mind.	27%
2-I've written my mandate but I haven't reviewed it  This person gets a good grade. He's written his mandate, which he sees as an insurance policy. But he needs to review it to make sure the instructions are still relevant.	15%
3-I'm getting ready to prepare my mandate  This person needs a little encouragement. He's about to take a big step toward making sure he's protected in the event he's declared incapable. If he needs help with the process, the Curateur public is there to provide him with more information.	14%
4-I will prepare my mandate eventually  This person plans to prepare his mandate, but has no definite timeline. He might easily fall into the trap of believing he has time and that becoming incapable is something that will never happen to him. A helpful tip for him would be to subscribe to the Curateur public du Québec's email reminders.	25%
5-I don't plan to prepare a mandate  There is no valid reason for not having a mandate. This person may be unaware that a mandate is actually a contract that protects his lifestyle because it contains his wishes should he become incapable. After all, no one knows you better than you know yourself!	19%
